Knowledge management game

Objectives of the game

In this game solutions are created in teams for knowledge management related problems, which are reviewed by other teams. This way a participant is stimulated — interactively and competitively — to reflect on aspects of knowledge management.

Method

The participants are divided into teams and play a number of games. In every game solutions are created for a knowledge management problem. These solutions are discussed and reviewed. The team that proposed the best solution earns knowledge miles, the other teams lose knowledge miles.

The winner

Each team starts with a number of knowledge miles. The goal is to attain the most knowledge miles. That team has the best insight in knowledge management problems and wins the game.
